- The most active healthcare sectors for M&A
- Latest investment opportunities in international healthcare
- Market analysis through the lens of the pandemic

Following our successful conference in New York last year, our Investing in International Healthcare Services Conference 2020 will be split into two half days and will focus on what will be the most attractive healthcare sectors for investment, and what the growth drivers and key trends are in the underlying markets for those businesses.

At the conference we are also looking to launch the European Healthcare Private Equity Association and bring together investors to discuss the themes of clinics, diagnostics, pharma services, digital, HCIT and real estate.

We will also be holding a plenary session on private equity with leading investors looking at the market through the lens of the pandemic as well as healthcare real estate.

Join us to discover the latest investment opportunities in international healthcare.
